Turning from capex to cash flow

Overall, the Q3 report was a positive surprise. Net sales grew 7% y/y and the EBITDA margin was good despite increased fuel costs. Net sales and adjusted EBITDA were above our expectations in the Passenger and Ferry segments while the Cargo segment and Other operations were close to our forecasts in Q3. However, in the Q3 report the company did not offer any major news regarding its property development project. Investments have come down by EUR 14m y/y in Q1-Q3 2026, leaving more room for dividend payments. Our fair value range of EUR 1.4-1.7 is unchanged, based on a combination of our DCF model and a peer group comparison. A major trigger for the investment case could be a possible peace in Ukraine, which remains highly unpredictable.

Cost management was excellent in Q3

Q3 revenue was EUR 34m, up 6.7% y/y, versus our EUR 33m estimate. The adjusted EBITDA margin reached 49% and was clearly above our 47% expectation. Operating expenses increased, driven mainly by fuel, purchased services and rental expenses. Nevertheless, revenue growth and the mix shift towards the high-margin Passenger harbours segment were enough to offset the cost pressure. Passenger harbours delivered revenue growth of 9% y/y and a very strong adjusted EBITDA margin of 61% in Q3. However, Passenger traffic volumes remains below pre-pandemic and pre-war levels, while cruise traffic still has scope to normalise. The company does not provide full-year guidance, but it expects cruise vessel calls and passenger numbers to increase, while TT-Line is scheduled to start operating the Muuga-Vuosaari route in Q1 2027.

FCF is becoming the central part of the investment case

Tallinna Sadam combines infrastructure-like revenue streams, high EBITDA margins and relatively modest company-specific risk with several underutilised growth assets. We see scope for a material EBITDA improvement in 2027, especially if energy prices normalise. Botnica has secured a 45-day South African charter beginning in May 2027. The Paldiski investment peak has passed after completion of the new multifunctional quay, supporting free cash flow, deleveraging and dividend capacity. In addition, investments made in 2024-25 are expected to generate growing earnings in 2027-28. Property assets provide incremental earnings opportunities and we expect the first property development project could be announced in late 2026. We conclude that dividend payments could start to grow after being stable at EUR 0.073 in 2022-25. We forecast a FCF yield of 12% in 2027 with a 7% dividend yield. We argue that a high-quality infrastructure asset company should not trade below P/B of 1.0x.

Fair value and sensitivity
We calculate our fair values by weighting DCF, DDM, SOTP, asset-based and other standard valuation methods. Our fair values are sensitive to changes in valuation assumptions, of which growth, margins, tax rates, working capital ratios, investment-to-sales ratios and cost of capital are typically the most sensitive.

It should be noted that our fair values would change by a disproportionate factor if changes are made to any or all valuation assumptions, owing to the non-linear nature of the standard valuation models applied (mentioned above). As a consequence of the standard valuation models we apply, changes of 1-2 percentage points in any single valuation assumption can change the derived fair value by as much as 30% or more. All research is produced on an ad hoc basis and will be updated when the circumstances require it.

Marketing material
This research report should be considered marketing material, as it has been commissioned and paid for by the subject company, and has not been prepared in accordance with the regulations designed to promote the independence of investment research and it is not subject to any legal prohibition on dealing ahead of the dissemination of the report. However, Nordea Markets analysts are according to internal policies not allowed to hold shares in the companies/sectors that they cover.

Recommendation structure and fair value sensitivity (absolute ratings)

Buy: Positive share price potential versus our fair value and we see a compelling investment case to buy the share.

Sell: Negative share price potential versus our fair value and we see a compelling investment case to sell the share.

Hold: Share in line with our fair value and/or no compelling investment case.

We calculate our fair values by weighting DCF, DDM, SOTP, asset-based and other standard valuation methods. When applicable, we set a 12-month target price by applying an appropriate premium/discount and/or other relevant adjustment to our fair value to reflect the share price potential we see within the coming 12 months. Our fair values are sensitive to changes in valuation assumptions, of which growth, margins, tax rates, working capital ratios, investment-to-sales ratios and cost of capital are typically the most sensitive.
It should be noted that our fair values would change by a disproportionate factor if changes are made to any or all valuation assumptions, owing to the non-linear nature of the standard valuation models applied (mentioned above). As a consequence of the standard valuation models we apply, changes of 1-2 percentage points in any single valuation assumption can change the derived fair value by as much as 30% or more. Dividend payouts are included in the target price. All research is produced on an ad hoc basis and will be updated when the circumstances require it.

Equity risk rating

Nordea risk rating: Tallinna Sadam 3
As a measure of the company's operational risk we, apply a risk rating scale of 1-5 where 1 is the lowest risk and 5 is the highest. The risk rating is calculated using a weighted average of earnings/cash flow predictability, earnings quality and backwardlooking asset beta. For the most illiquid stocks, the risk rating is also adjusted for liquidity risk. The risk rating is then converted to asset beta and used to calculate the cost of capital. It is thus implicitly included in our fair value calculations.
